

if only...

I felt like
I belonged

Growing up in the world made me question what the true meaning of life was. I never had trouble fitting in, but deep down I knew there had to be more to life.

Then I found God when I was baptised and spoke in tongues. I have been blessed ever since. I've had healings and provisions. God even provided me with a job even though I didn't have a resume. It's been such a blessing.

One of the biggest things about coming to know God has been finding a community. Everyone is so welcoming and passionate, and no matter what our backgrounds are we all have the Holy Spirit in common.

I'm thankful every day that I have found the place where I belong. If only I had found it sooner!
